

The following problems will be relevant for your writing quiz on Thursday, 11/3/16.

Skill / Computational Problems. These problems are not handed in or graded, and do not involve enough writing to be the basis of a writing quiz, but are a good way to check that you understand the concepts used in the writing problems.

- Section 4.1: 4, 6(a), 9, 10

Writing Problems. Your writing quiz on Thursday will be based on the problems below. A problem on the quiz could appear exactly as stated in the book, or it could be a slightly modified version of a problem below.

- Section 4.1: 6(c), 7(c), 7(f), 8(c)

Notice that exercises with a star have answers or hints in the back of the book. If those problems are assigned, use the back of the book to check your work. If a similar problem is assigned, you can do the starred problem to check whether you understand the concepts.